

Hourglass

Patience settles inside you.

Your sand dreams of returning to the ocean to dance in that salty den of sharks and coelacanths.

Glass is your horizon, your world where wood is both a ceiling and a floor.

A hand takes you by the waist.